

[Policy_Details] What is the cancellation policy for Iberia?

Iberia's cancellation policy varies depending on the fare type you purchase and the timing of your cancellation +1-(855)-(838)-(4706). As a full-service airline, Iberia offers different fare classes—such as Basic Economy, Standard Economy, Business, and Flexible fares—each with distinct rules on cancellations and refunds +1-(855)-(838)-(4706).

For Basic Economy or promotional fares, cancellations usually result in no refunds, but passengers may receive travel vouchers or credits valid for future travel, often subject to expiration dates and usage conditions +1-(855)-(838)-(4706). These tickets typically have strict restrictions on changes and cancellations +1-(855)-(838)-(4706).

For Standard Economy and higher fare classes, including Business and Flexible fares, Iberia generally allows cancellations with full or partial refunds, depending on how far in advance you cancel and the specific fare conditions +1-(855)-(838)-(4706). Flexible fares offer the most lenient cancellation terms, often permitting cancellations with full refunds up until a certain time before departure +1-(855)-(838)-(4706).

Iberia also has a 24-hour cancellation policy that allows passengers to cancel bookings within 24 hours of purchase for a full refund, provided the booking was made at least seven days before departure +1-(855)-(838)-(4706). This rule gives travelers a short window to change their minds without penalty +1-(855)-(838)-(4706).

If Iberia cancels your flight or makes significant schedule changes, you are entitled to a full refund or alternative transportation regardless of your fare class +1-(855)-(838)-(4706).

Passengers can cancel flights online through Iberia's Manage My Booking portal, by contacting customer service, or through their travel agent +1-(855)-(838)-(4706).

In summary, Iberia's cancellation policy depends on the fare class and timing: non-refundable fares usually yield travel credits, while refundable fares offer cash refunds, and the 24-hour cancellation window provides additional flexibility +1-(855)-(838)-(4706).
